

Contents

We want to take part!	5
PRELUDIUM
What is a zitheroo?	13
Why these stories?	15
The letters	16
What people say about the zitheroo	18
But if the zitheroo is so great, why have so few people heard of them?	20
My path to the zitheroo—discovery	22
My path to the zitheroo—Rip van Winkle awakens	24
”I’m just a-wonderin’—where are they now?”	25
STORIES
The snowboarder	29
I’m a Big, Big Girl in a Big, Big World	30
A zitheroo in a hospital bed	32
Crash-landing of the magic carpet	33
Edelweiss tears	34
”He just enjoys sitting there weeping”	35
The girl who saved up for a year	35
”Maybe we can play Star of Africa?”	37
Diary notes from an April evening on Houtskär	38
Malin tags along	40
A custodian—and the receptionist who might have grandchildren, some day	40
When Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star was heavy	41
Knockin’ on Heaven’s Door	42

So quiet, so heartfelt	43
Finlandia , goosebumps, and stroke patients	44
The zitheroo as a bridge between Finland and Africa, man and woman, young and old	47
"New talents have emerged"	49
A worried father: "She thinks she's playing real music"	50
Yellow backgrounds and large dots did the trick	52
"No, now you have to go to bed!"	53
From terrorist to charmer	54
When Elin taught Lotta to play	55
"Hear me for here I am"	57
"But when they figure it out... aah!"	58
Oskar's revelation	60
Lina and Christina try the stairwell	61
You never know when you will become a star	63
Grandma defies the Christmas gift ban	64
Thinking outside of the box	65
"He sat completely still, in rapt concentration"	66
"Be quiet! I'm playing Silent Night "—a mother's story	67
"Even my dyslexic children can succeed"	69
The lizard with one toe	70
"Suddenly those who drone on start to sing"	72
Mathematics and music	73
Snow, Snow, Snow	73
Black Flame	75
Aladdin Extreme Lightning, Zlatan and Ways to Die	77
It Is Spring!	80
That's how they do it on Iniö	82
When she gets mad, she plays	83
Hope for the future	83
Fishing poles and bait	84

The glorious happy chaos of the present	86
By yon bonnie banks and by yon bonnie braes	88
A kindergarten visit in Xi'an	89
Along in the song of the universe	90
Christmas tree money	92
A spirit of adventure and a wandering bear	93
"And Dad on the zitheroo"	95
Speaking of piano	96
Family centers—toward a musically sustainable society	97
An "experimental alternative solution" in Vaasa	101
"A new service model with easy and approachable creativity"	102
Music therapists' reports from the field	104
LINN	107
"I didn't want to get more blisters and sore fingers"	108
Christmas concerts (from Linn's mother's diary)	108
"She likes when she hears it—the melody"	109
"You can hear her start to play up there"	110
"Are they really awake or do they want another song?"	111
"If she doesn't play any other instrument . . ."	112
Two years later	112
2022	113
SMALL GLIMPSES	115
Carpe diem—every second is precious!	116
It feels good to be the expert	116
The dog will have to wait	116
Strapping lads go at it	116
No, now we have to go home	117

When it was time for recess	117
An elegant and practical gesture	118
At summercamp	119
Feeling like a musician	119
”They didn’t even know what it was!”	119
None of us knew	120
One can apparently suffer from an acute lack of...	121
... and live in a zitheroo	121
More important than I could have imagined	121
The world of theater	122
”One ought to see the stars, one ought to be two”	122
Email from a preschool teacher	123
A teacher-in-training with nap-time plans	123
A Valentine’s Day school concert	123
A smiling journalist in Kimito	123
And a happy principal	124
He wanted “one of those”	124
What would the cats think?	124
Even some three- and four-year-olds like to play	125
...and a blissful 2-year-old in Borgå	126
Still fascinated as teenagers	126
A bank director opens his present	126
“My instrument”	127
Many have tried to make reading music easier	127
Masquerading as a koto at the Sibelius Academy	128
The key of Q-flat	128
My newfound friend	128
About Jonathan Lutz	129